"Sephardic and Ashkenazic Liturgy" with Robert Altabet

Comparisons of similarities and differences in prayer

The core of Jewish liturgy traces back to the early rabbinic period and the siddur of Saadia Gaon, and is universally followed in traditional communities worldwide. However, Sephardim and Ashkenazim developed nuances in prayer liturgies. We'll look at the differences to see how rabbinic interpretations, cultures and history shaped the religious experiences underlying prayer.

Presented In-Person. RSVP: administrador@sephardifederationpbc.org

January 17, 2023 Hazzan Isaac Azose

Meet and sing along with Isaac Azose who was born in Seattle to parents from two prominent Sephardic families, the Azoses and the Maimons. He became Hazzan at Congregation Ezra Bessaroth, a position he held for more than thirty years. He is also responsible for publishing Hebrew-English Sephardic siddurim which are used in Sephardic congregations worldwide. Hazzan Azose will discuss his Turkish Sephardic family history, childhood, service in the Air Force and career at Boeing. The hazzan has made two double CDs, one liturgical and one of romansas and has given concerts throughout the world. He has been honored for his work both as a clergyman and for preserving Ladino in Seattle by leading a group called "Los Ladineros". Hazzan Azose will lead us in singing popular Ladino songs from his CD.
